Commanding Officer
Marine Air Control Group 18
Family Welcome Aboard Letter
25 September 2014

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself to the Marine Air Control Group 18 Family. My name is Scott Stebbins, and I assumed command of MACG-18 on May 23th, 2013. My wife Krisi and I are excited to be here and are committed to the success of the Group and to the well-being of the Marines and their families.

We understand and appreciate your sacrifice and commitment to the Marine way of life and are eager to share our passion for the mission and Marines during our time serving our country together. Some of you are new to the Marine Corps and will find your experience both challenging and rewarding. If you have some experience with the Marine Corps, thank you for your commitment to your Marine and for your part in the success of the Marine Corps.

We have put a lot of work on building the Group Family Readiness Program; we will continue to improve this program to meet all of your needs. This is an information and referral resource intended to keep you plugged into Group events to stay abreast of what is happening with your Marine. I want to stress that this program is intended to help me pass on official information that is important to our families. This program is designed to catch you up on our schedule, important contact information, and other aspects of our Family Readiness Program.

If you have questions concerning the Family Readiness Program, please call Mrs. Katrina Horsley-Watts the MACG-18 Family Readiness Officer at 636-3837 or 080-3529-9735 or email Katrina.Horsley@usmc.mil.

Krisi and I are looking forward to getting to know you and working with you in the months ahead, and we are always happy to take your questions, concerns and ideas.

Semper Fidelis,

S. F. STEBBINS
Colonel, U.S. Marine Corps
Commanding Officer
Marine Air Control Group 18
