

Welcome to HMLA-367 and Welcome to the Scarface Family!

Aloha!

My name is Jennifer Marple, the Family Readiness Officer (FRO) for Marine Light Attack Helicopter Squadron 367 (HMLA-367). I'm so happy to be a part of this squadron and your FRO! I was born and raised just north of Dallas, Texas, but I have also lived in California and Hawaii because my husband is a Marine. We have two children and they're 11 years apart! We love it and wouldn't trade any of it.

As the Family Readiness Officer it is my job to provide official, two-way communication between the Command Team and our families. To accomplish this I will do my best to provide your family with official squadron communication through emails, newsletters, and phone calls. In addition I can also provide Marines and their families with information, resources, referrals, and support on all aspects of military life. Please do not hesitate to ask me questions; it is part of my job to answer them.

Contact information is critical to the effectiveness of our ability to keep the lines of communication open. When your Marine checks in, he/she will provide me with family member's information to include phone numbers, mailing addresses, and email address. This information will be kept confidential and will never be misused. PLEASE keep me informed of any changes to your contact information so that I can maintain an up-to-date roster at all times.

Last, I want to encourage you to get involved! This is YOUR Scarface Family so let us seize the opportunity to build community in HMLA-367! You can do this by attending briefs, becoming a volunteer with the squadron, attending a family event, or even attending classes provided through Marine Corps Family Team Building. I also welcome any ideas/feedback/information you may have so please call, text, email, or stop by any time. I have an open door policy so please do not hesitate to reach out.
