Command Philosophy: Committed to Excellence

Each of us is called to be a Firebird. No matter your background, where you came from, or what your beliefs are, we are all Firebirds. We are part of a legacy that is committed to excellence.

A Firebird works hard to make MWSS-172 the best, most enjoyable, and proficient unit in the Marine Corps; this is what a commitment to excellence looks like.

Firebirds show up every day to try to be better than they were yesterday. Firebirds work hard to make themselves better in PT, PME, volunteering, or any goal they set for themselves. Firebirds help each other out. We work hard to make the Marine and Sailor to the left and right of us better.

Like a Phoenix rising from the ashes of its past, Firebirds work hard so that each week we are more proficient than the last. Our commitment to excellence applies to every aspect of our mission: maintenance and readiness, operations and exercises, administrative events, and all inspections. Firebirds work hard to complete missions the right way. We do the routine things routinely well.

Firebirds work hard to be better and enjoy what they do so that MWSS-172 can provide world class Aviation Ground Support. Therefore, when the enemy attacks, we Firebirds will rise up as the first ones to answer the call.

How are you making yourself better? How are your actions making your section better? How are you making the Firebirds a more enjoyable unit? How are you committed to excellence?
